

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In an image forming apparatus that is capable of forming an image in a plurality of image forming modes that correspond to frequencies of developing bias, a 5 voltage value that reflects the image forming mode and amount of remaining toner is corrected using a correction quantity that conforms to the image forming mode.